CONSISTENT CONNECTION TO THE RIVER OF LOVE

To My Spirit Family;

Like Percival on the quest for the grail, love has become a quenchless thirst. Even in our most intimate forms of union, there is still longing and seeking. The longing has served the purpose of calling you to conscious union with your Twin Flame and you have been learning to create in the Twin Flame Heart Womb from the Real (the IS that is the full, perfect pattern). We have emphasized moving out of the time/space continuum for this creation process, for now that you have chosen to live the work, you know it must be done moment to moment – every single now to now. In the now, fear dissolves because there's no future and love is realized because the past is not the focus of energy. Instead the focus is the pure love and balance of the moment where all things are possible. It is only in the vertical that God is realized. Other than that, God is just a thought associated with other thoughts in a continuum.

Visualize the Great River of Love in which you are suspended, as if in a warm salt pool; suspended and supported molecule to molecule; supported just as you were within the womb of your mother. In this salt pool, there is space. Even though love is enlivened within the human form and enlivened within the human spirit, when you move consciously into the Great River of Love, it becomes recognizable as a state of being.

When masters have come to Earth, most lived humble lives, willing to be a living example of love; a love without strategy - a naked being in this world, fully alive, present, aware, and as unafraid as possible. In this state of openness and acceptance, they seeded higher concepts within humanity, anchoring the vibration into the collective field.

Just as the masters, you are beginning to glimpse sovereign creatorship and the ability to affect the larger fields of the cosmos. This requires understanding and functioning within the BOTH/AND concept. When you create from within the Twin Flame Heart Womb and remain vertical in awareness, it allows you to bridge the levels of consciousness and draw the Real into this dimension without attracting the polarity in the illusion. BOTH/AND – a foot in each dimension.

As you seed your own consciousness, the initial work requires invocation and command. Even when you take your cells into this morphic resonant field, the seeds of vibration you introduce do not initially become dominant thought or feeling vibrations when you return consciousness to this dimension. It is repetition of a vibration that creates its dominance in any field – hence the need to practice the exercise of union. Whether you create your own pathway, or utilize a tool such as the one we have created and offered on the website, it matters only that you consistently enter the field so you may be open to the presence of Love within the Moment, in willingness to accept what that Love brings.

It is not that your choices that are changing, dear ones, for your choices have always been aimed toward a full realization of love. But because your genetic encodement for at-one-ment has signaled a return to union, your navigational tool has changed. Love, from a higher perspective, is simply a more divine realization of what is. It is HOPE that has activated everything divine within you. It opens what is otherwise not open, and defines you as Divine. It's what gets you to the Present Moment.

Most of you, though capable of conceptualizing the full Twin Flame return to unity, are still learning the practical, gradational union in form at this juncture. You may be experiencing this energetically, or even through soul family overshadowing so you can reflect yourself back to you. But, as you practice matching your energy to the Ongoing Moment of Creation and create from the Real, you begin to draw your creations into this dimension without attracting their polarity. You then emanate this perfection. You needn't push or pull the energy, for it is not about delivering anything. Rather, it is about embracing, encompassing, All That Is within the love that is already complete and whole. This is how love magnetizes itself back to its perfect form, for it is already designed to respond to itself at the highest frequency.

Everything created within the Twin Flame Heart Womb is more of the ISNESS of the One Perfection, and the name you give this perfection is Love.

You are held eternally in the infinite ocean of limitless love, and Only Love is Real!
